I am trying to create a class using the sound clip editor. In order to add the sound clip to the program I need to be able to modify the class that's created by the program. I click on the bottom part of the sound clip player that says "Edit" with the hammer and it brings me to the editor mode and it gives me the option of add, move and modify. I click on modify and a dialogue box pops up with three options. (see image above) I click on "Modify Class" A dialogue box pops up I click on "Edit Class" A new window opens I click on "Eclipse" and a new Window opens I click on "Next" A new dialogue box opens I click on "Create" and enter the class name A new dialogue box pops up I click on "OK" and the new window closes I click on "OK" to close the Window that opens A new dialogue box opens I click on "OK" and a new Window opens This is where I am stuck because it's supposed to be creating a new class but it creates the same Class and so the Class number keeps on incrementing (no pun intended). I would really appreciate some help in identifying the error I am making and any suggestions on how to correct it. Thanks. A: I think I figured out the problem...

When you open up the ADOBE UNIVERSE class editor, if you have already created classes for your project before, it will create a new class that is the same as your old classes and it increments the classes to make each new class unique. You need to go into the ADOBE UNIVERSE class editor and delete your previous classes. Click on File > New > Class Create your new class the way you want it to look then repeat steps above

$$15 * x(a) . Lets(j) = - 6 * j + 2 . Calculate - 3 * o(t) - 4 *$$
