The team is working on the new feature and it shows in the new game modes, Dynamic Player Creator and the All Stars Shootout. Dynamic Player Creator allows players to construct their very own player using 23 attributes (Age, Height, Girth, Speed and Agility) and comes in two versions: Pro and FIFA. The Pro version allows players to define all of their attributes and essentially create their own player (pro version only). The FIFA version is for those wanting to build their own player based off one of the 23 available available for the game. "We're extremely proud to have the All Stars Shootout mode as part of Fifa 22 Cracked Accounts. This mode was designed specifically to highlight the kind of game FIFA is, to deliver on all the promises we make to our fans and the essence of the sport. This mode was designed in such a way that the players can enjoy the game in a different way, through fast-paced and unpredictable game-play. "All players are at an elite level of football, so the intensity of the game is based on the level of football the players play at. We have played these matches and you can feel the intensity and the unpredictability. During our discussion with our community, we heard the requests from many fans for more game modes. With the All Stars Shootout mode, which is connected to FIFA Ultimate Team, we're ready to deliver." "I've really enjoyed working on the All Stars Shootout mode because it's so different. It's one of the few modes I haven't worked on before, but I've been really enjoying it." We'll have an interview with Rob Kutschera and special guests on Player 1's Battle Grounds soon. Comments spy_ro 10/05/17 Is this true? I hear of this thing all the time but i do not think its factual. I really dont care for it. If I could not get better players I'd rather play regular and have no smart gameplay. Bernd_Fan 10/06/17 I can feel it already ;) I think its going to be super addictive. bruce_old 10/06/17 The video is from 3 years ago.
