Q: How to redirect one-time email to a registered email id in PHP? I want to redirect all email formates to a registered email id. Ex: abc@abc.com -> xyz@xyz.com xyz@xyz.com -> abc@abc.com abcd@abcd.com -> xyz@xyz.com If the user is not registered, then it should be a 404 error page How can I achieve that? A: You can't redirect emails. When the user has not registered, he will see his email address that you redirect, as it is a valid email address. You can add a check in your DB to only give certain users the address you want to redirect, by storing in a field in the DB if the user has the address you want to forward to or not. If not registered users will not see their email address, when that happens you will see the page with the 404 error that you want.

Players make decisions faster and react to changes more accurately.
