A: If you are downloading Apeço na web, it's very likely that you are downloading malware. Instead you should download a trusted version of the program from a known site. Software vendors are now starting to re-release their old programs for free. Provide a way to disable SMTP authentication on mail servers for clients that have been assigned to the local relay. Clients that do not have this protection will be able to send spool mail directly through the relay.

-smb_relay_authenticate=local Constrain the relay to only send mail back to mail senders that have SMTP authentication. This requires that for SMTP "AUTH" commands, the _relay_verify_authentication parameter be set to True.
-smb_relay_login_method=local Constrain the relay to only send mail with SMTP authentication to email senders that have a login method of 'local'. -smb_relay_ldap_dn= Specify the LDAP attribute that should be used in the account name of LDAP users for mail senders that have LDAP support. The default value is 'mail'. -smb_relay_ldap_pw= Specify the LDAP attribute that should be used in the password of LDAP users for mail senders that have LDAP support. The default value is 'Password'. -smb_relay_ldap_uid= The LDAP attribute that specifies the uid of an LDAP user in the relay's account name for LDAP senders. The default value is 'uid'. -smb_relay_ldap_all_rights=0 All LDAP rights for the relay's account name for LDAP senders. -smb_relay_ldap_group_name= The LDAP attribute that specifies the group of an LDAP user in the relay's account name for LDAP senders. The default value is 'cn'. -smb_relay_ldap_group_member_of= The LDAP attribute that specifies the group members of an LD

A: Rofl.. I figure it out.. Got to config.js (in Apps Folder) and search the following document.addEventListener('deviceready', function () { and modify the code into document.addEventListener('deviceready', function () { var isDeviceReady = true; if(isAndroid){ if(navigator.userAgent.toLowerCase().indexOf('android')!==-1){ isDeviceReady = false; } else if(navigator.userAgent.toLowerCase().indexOf('mac')!==-1){ isDeviceReady = false; } } Then restart the application and that's it.. PS: Looks like a lot of questions in here is duplicate of mine.. hope this one will help others too... Followers Wednesday, August 13, 2016 Here we see the young, handsome hero, Adam or "Adham" as he's called in Hebrew, posing with his handsome young lady on a wedding day. They are in fact married now (1929), after his mother became a Christian, his father of course, rejected him and broke the engagement. Not surprisingly he grows bored and left Israel which is highly unusual because of the anti-German sentiment in Palestine. The photographer was Fred Hedgcock a British, who would have been a Major at the time. They were probably posed in the UK but taken in Israel.Q: ClientSocket.Connect exception "Remote host closed connection." I have a new project in C# and now I have a problem with the ClientSocket.Connect(connectionString); The exception is: System.Net.Sockets.SocketException (0x80004005): Remote host closed connection. In the client I'm using the following method to connect: public bool Connect(string hostname, int port) { try { this._server.server.Bind(this._server.server.CreateIPEndPoint(hostname, port)); //this._server.server.Listen(8); Thread
