County, California, United States. The Sacramento River Trail follows the Sacramento River from the Sacramento Municipal Utility District's Powerhouse No. 1 in West Sacramento to American River Park near Downtown Sacramento. It is long and is part of a proposed national urban trail system. History The trail originally began at Elk Island Park in West Sacramento. In 2004, a group called Friends of the River founded the trail, using $1 million from an $8 million grant from the San Joaquin River Conservancy to design, build and maintain the path. During a project to repair of the path, two significant landslides occurred, one in 2006 and another in 2007. In 2009, the City of West Sacramento opened a section of the Sacramento River Trail between US 12 and Sleepy Hollow Road. Another section between Sleepy Hollow Road and the American River Parkway was dedicated in December 2011. The path is partly part of the West Sacramento Area Bicycle & Pedestrian Project and is in the North Coast Region of the U.S. National Bike Route System. References External links
